Hearings On Special Bills Friday

Legislators Cautious On Money Requests

Peterson Hog Measure Asks $200,000 And Outlawing Of Raw Garbage Feeding

By BETH RANDEL JUSSEL
Star Staff Writer

It was a "cautious" group of Nebraska legislators bent on giving "considerable thought" before agreeing to appropriate funds asked of them who voted unanimously to hold public hearings at 2 p.m. Friday on all eight bills submitted at the opening of the special session of the Nebraska Legislature.

Unlike the speedy procedure of the April special session called to appropriate flood disaster money, the senators vigorously turned down motions to place the bills on general file.

The legislators adjourned until 9 a.m. Thursday for a brief session expected to be a matter of "mere formality," and expected to adjourn soon afterwards. The Friday hearings were set after suspending rules requiring the usual five-day notice for a public hearing.

The eight measures included calls for:

A $200,000 appropriation for indigent care of Nebraskans owning hogs quarantined as a result of vesicular exanthema.

The creation of a $5,000 "revolving fund" for purchasing animals to be used in a livestock disease experimental program within the Department of Agriculture.

The outlawing of commercial feeding of raw garbage to livestock and a penalty of from $100 to $500 for each day of violation of such law.

A move to prohibit importation to the state of animals infected with vesicular exanthema and a penalty of from $50 to $500 for importing, aiding or abetting in importation of such animals.

A $5 increase on Nebraska's old age assistance ceiling, raising the current ceiling from $55 to $60.

Refund of the 4 million dollars or more collected under the blanket school tax levy declared "unconstitutional" by the State Supreme Court.

Scattering Dissension

And immediately after the first reading of the eight bills, a scattering dissension hedging on debate gave evidence that the road to their passage was apt to become rocky.

A demand for public hearings on assistance and the hog measures was voiced by both Sens. Earl J. Lee of Fremont and Robert McNutt of Lincoln.

"I'm right in the middle of this hog business, as you will see... but when it comes to giving away money, I want a public hearing," said Lee. He also criticized the assistance bill because "so few" would benefit.

Burney Motion

It was Sen. Dwight D. Burney of Hartington who made the motion to refer the bills to committee Wednesday. Committees who will hear public opinion on the controversial matters Friday are the committee on public health, the budget committee and the committee on miscellaneous appropriations and claims.

Sen. O. H. Peterson of Wahoo heads the public health committee which will handle the bills related to the hog disease. The old age assistance measure will come up before the miscellaneous appropriations and claims group, of which Sen. C. C. Lillibridge of Crete is chairman.

The $200,000 appropriations bill for indigent care and the $5,000 "revolving fund" will be heard by the budget committee, headed by Sen. Arthur Carmody of Trenton.

Amendment of one of Peterson's suggestions was foreseen in the plans outlined by Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, who said he would present a proposal to increase the old-age assistance ceiling from the proposed $55 to $60—a total increase of $10 over the current ceiling.

Klaver said the trouble with Peterson's recommendation was that it didn't affect enough of the benefit recipients. Klaver fought during the 1951 Legislature for adoption of two measures to raise old age ceilings, both of which were defeated.

Only Four Absent

The special legislative session, second since the last regular meet of the legislators, opened at 12:05. Gov. Val Peterson delivered his message to the senators personally.

The first day's roll call found only four senators absent—Ray Babcock of Sidney, R. H. Kreutz of Giltner, John J. Larkin Jr. of Omaha, and H. G. Wellensiek of Grand Island.

But the question of attendance and adjournment of the session had already come up. Sen. Hubert J. Duis of Gothenburg said he did not want to stay longer than "necessary," but accused the senators of thinking more about "how long they would stay in session" than about the length of the hog disease.

Other senators, among them, Sen. Tvrdek of Omaha, said they didn't intend to do "their share." Tvrdek said he was "willing" if it took two or three weeks—but not a month.

No Bids Received On Reconstruction Of Capitol Terrace

No bids were received for reconstruction of the terrace around the State Capitol by the deadline Wednesday, spokesmen of the state purchasing agent's office said.

Several construction firms which contacted the office said their bids were not made because time was too short to figure their estimate.

The Capitol Commission has been notified that no bids were received.

Need for the work was pointed up Tuesday when a large section of ceiling plaster crashed to the floor in a room occupied by the State Banking Department. No one was injured.

Re-construction of the terrace, which is the roof for the first floor, is the final step in a waterproofing program authorized by the legislature three years ago.

Porter Will Name Church, Cotner, Children's Home

The First Christian Church, Cotner College and the Nebraska Children's Home Society of Omaha were named as beneficiaries in the will of George M. Porter, which was filed for probate in County Court. Mr. Porter died Aug. 7.

The First Christian Church will receive $5,000 under terms of the will. Cotner College will get $1,000, and the Nebraska Children's Home Society, $1,000.

The remainder of the bequests are:

Ada L. Van Patten, Lincoln, sister, $10,000.

Election Law Change, Assistance Expansion, Pushed By Raecke

Walter Raecke Wednesday night declared that the people of Nebraska are entitled to an expansion of public assistance, a change in election laws and finally—a governor who "stays on the job."

The Central City lawyer and Democratic candidate for governor spoke at a "Democrats for Raecke" dinner sponsored by the party's Lancaster County central committee.

Joe Ginsburg, master-of-ceremonies, said the dinner was one intended strictly to inform party workers on the issues of the election. Raecke did just that; speaking softly he explained the issues for which he will campaign.

He outlined progress made by the public assistance program in Nebraska, pointing out that it first gained impetus under a Democratic governor, Roy Cochran. This Nebraska program was formed in the same period as the federal government, also under Democratic leadership, formulated the social security program, Raecke said.

The portions of the Nebraska program which deal with old-age assistance received Raecke's special attention. Expressing sympathy with elderly people who are unable to obtain the support of their children, he said: "These people cannot be permitted to suffer because of the shortcomings of others."

He urged the State Legislature to re-examine the assistance program. "We cannot close our eyes to changing conditions. When the cost of the necessities of life increase, the folks on public assistance are necessarily affected thereby."

In outlining the history of the program in Nebraska he noted that it was first put into operation by a Democrat—Gov. Roy Cochran.

The election law, he said, should be altered to make the vote of the people in the presidential primary binding upon the delegates. The existing primary set-up does not provide a mandate from the people, Raecke declared.

Asserting that pre-primary conventions today "do not mean anything," Raecke said the law should also be altered in this regard. As a final note on election laws he urged the elimination of the vice presidential ticket from the presidential primary ballots.

Earlier, Bernard Boyle of Omaha, newly-chosen Democratic national committeeman, spoke briefly asking the support of all party workers. He described Raecke as "the best candidate for governor the Democrats in Nebraska have put up in half a century."

Some 200 persons attended the affair in the Lincoln Hotel.

The announcement of a meeting of the state Democratic central committee Sept. 5 in Kearney was made following the dinner. The meeting will decide the course of the party's campaign in the state this fall.

Young Voters Hold Balance Of Power In Election, Says Crosby

The balance of power in the coming election, said Robert Crosby, Republican candidate for governor, lies with the voters under the age of 40.

Speaking to more than 200 at a Lancaster County Young Republican meeting at the Cornhusker Hotel Wednesday night, Crosby said young people "realize that the philosophy of the Republican party is no longer negative—it is altogether positive."

Lashing out at the Democrats, he said the state and national Democratic conventions "without any compunction tried to draft platforms that promised tangible benefits to various minority groups."

He charged that the state Democratic platform, on record as opposing "socialized medicine," is really only opposing the kind of socialized medicine that exists in Great Britain and does not mean the kind of "socialized medicine" proposed by President Truman.

"I am a conservative Republican," Crosby declared, "and I am proud of it."

"I am not going to kick out the word 'conservative' which has been attached to me just to win an election, he stated."

And he added, "I think we have a presidential and vice-presidential candidate who are those kind of Republicans."

"The popular thing in the world" for the Republicans, he said, is to blame Dewey for the 1948 presidential election defeat.

He may have lost simply because the national government has gotten so big and commands so many votes, Mr. Crosby suggested, adding that it might even mean that "we are just going through the motions" in the Republican party.

The great issue between the national parties is between statism and the party where belief in personal freedom flourishes, he said.

He scorned those "who proclaim brotherly love by spending other people's money" in the legislature and the Congress.

"To preserve personal liberties, we must keep national and state governments under a firm restraint; we must hold to a minimum the controls which are administered by bureaucrats dispatched out of Washington; we must force as many controls as possible down to a local level of administration, retaining only such controls as are absolutely necessary," he said.

"Above all," the North Platte lawyer said, "We must maintain a system which rewards the hard working people and penalizes lazy people."

Preceding the address by the Republican gubernatorial candidate, State Senators Robert McNutt, Lincoln, and Herbert J. Buis, Gothenburg, discussed the Legislature's special session.

$700 To $900 Million Yearly Increase For Metal Products

Russ Brand Big-5 Meet An 'Insult'

Malik Riles Session Disarmament Group

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—Russia's rejection of the recent Western proposal for a big-five conference on arms ceilings was foreshadowed in U. N. Wednesday by irritated Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik.

Malik branded the Western proposal "an unprecedented insult and affront" to the seven small powers who along with the major powers are members of the U. N. Disarmament Commission.

The Russian seized the floor of the Disarmament Commission repeatedly to challenge and assail Chairman Daniel Von Balleusek of The Netherlands, U. S. Representative Benjamin Cohen, and Henri Hoppenot of France.

Soviet Outvoted

Malik's angry exchange with other members came shortly after the Commission voted down by 9 to 1 with Pakistan and Chile abstaining, the Soviet proposal for an immediate consideration of the prohibition of germ warfare and germ weapons. Only Malik voted in favor of the Soviet resolution.

The Russian charged that the Western powers were trying to hide their intentions on armaments and said they had no intention of actually reducing or limiting either arms or armed power. He stressed that the Soviet Union insists that all U. N. members be treated as equals.

The Commission adjourned until Friday afternoon, when Malik will launch into a detailed statement of Soviet policy on the proposed big five conference on the fixation of ceilings.

CROP Cattle Contributions Will Continue

Nebraska farmers and stock growers will have the opportunity to contribute livestock through CROP for overseas relief again in 1952, according to an announcement made by state CROP Committee officials.

W. A. Redfield, Lincoln, state director for the Christian Rural Overseas Program, said that $8,000 was received from the sale of livestock given in 1951. Proceeds are used to purchase canned and processed meats for shipment abroad to disaster areas.

A staff report revealed that several CROP livestock sales have already been scheduled. The 1952 canvass had as a starter two animals donated last year which missed the 1951 sales. To date, ten other animals have been promised.

The first sale is slated for Bassett the latter part of September.

W. H. Brokaw, chairman of the Nebraska CROP committee, said, "The 1952 CROP goal in Nebraska is $75,000—an amount sufficient to furnish basic feeding for 15,000 hungry orphans, ill, aged, and other unfortunate people for a year."

OPS Is Expected To Announce Control Suspension 'On A Number Of Commodities'

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government Wednesday authorized a 700 to 900 million dollar a year price boost for thousands of metal products from heavy industrial equipment to automobiles and other consumer goods.

Retiring Price Chief Ellis Arnall said at the same time that the Office of Price Stabilization shortly will announce the suspension and decontrol of price regulations on a number of unspecified commodities.

Arnall told a news conference that OPS will adopt a much tougher price control attitude in those areas where regulation is needed, but in other fields the government would step up efforts to remove or suspend ceilings.

The OPS official, as a last major action, approved price ceilings increases to cover higher costs on steel, copper and aluminum to the nation's manufacturers. He said it would be unfair to force these companies to absorb the price hikes.

Arnall stated that the new regulation will be issued in the next few days when he steps down as price control boss. Rent Stabilizer Tighe E. Woods will take over the job Monday.

Of Woods, Arnall asserted: "He is going to be a fine director and will do a very creditable job in a very awkward position."

To Consumers

OPS said manufacturers would be allowed to pass on to their customers the full steel, copper and aluminum price increases recently authorized by the agency. Arnall said this will boost prices three-quarters of a billion dollars a year.

Additional price increase at the wholesale and retail level is expected to raise the figure to about 900 million dollars a year. Arnall said there is little doubt the increases would ultimately reach consumers.

He reported that OPS has received price-raising inquiries from 3,000 to 4,000 manufacturers in 50 to 75 industries.

Arnall declared: "This means ceilings will be raised and manufacturers will be able to get the price authorized by the new ceiling. Some consumer items like refrigerators and washing machines however, may not be increased the full allowable amount."

Private Practice

By bowing out, the former Georgia governor carried out his announced intention of serving only for a limited period before returning to private law practice. James M. Henderson of Dalgardfield, Tex., was appointed to Woods' former post.

The top level job switching came in the midst of renewed pressure on Arnall to allow manufacturers higher ceilings on hundreds of products ranging from heavy industrial machinery to consumer goods such as refrigerators, radios and washing machines.

Earl Bunting, managing director of the National Association of Manufacturers, spotlighted the problem in a telegram to Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam.

Bunting asserted that steel, copper and aluminum price increases approved by the Office of Price Stabilization in recent weeks "are working a hardship on other industries which must be corrected immediately."

But Arnall, although a strong opponent of the price raises in the first place, was already working on an order easing the squeeze on manufacturers by allowing them to pass the metal price increases on to consumers.

Hallett New Head Inter-Civic Group

E. Sheldon Hallett was elected president of the Inter-Civic Council at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce, Past President Paul Haberlan announced.

Other new officers include Wayne Cooper, vice president, and Kenneth L. Lawson, secretary-treasurer.

Representatives of the 12 men's civic clubs which form the Council's "round table" discussed the ways their organizations could aid in the "Get Out the Vote" campaign on local and state levels.

Forgery Is Denied By Lincolnite

Graham Charged In Auto Financing Transaction

A 33-year-old Lincoln man pleaded not guilty in County Court to a charge that he had forged a $1,855 conditional sales contract while serving as branch manager of the Universal C.I.T. Credit Corporation.

Edgar T. Graham, 3111 South, former branch manager, was charged with the forgery of the contract on May 6, 1951, using the name, Donald Van Sockel, to draw up the contract with a Fairbury car dealer.

A conditional sales contract is used by C.I.T. to finance cars sold on time payments. The dealer receives a payment for the car from C.I.T., and the payments are made by the buyer, direct to C.I.T. This is a common method of dealer-finance company arrangement to facilitate financing.

Graham, who worked for C.I.T. for about four and one-half years ending in October, 1951, served as branch manager of the company for about four years. He has been an insurance salesman since 1951.

Deputy County Attorney Elmer Scheele said.

Discovered Last Fall
The alleged forgery was discovered by company auditors last fall, Scheele said. An audit of the books and investigation by County Attorney's office delayed legal action in the matter, he said.

Scheele indicated that a check for $1,750 had been issued by C.I.T. in response to the contract which Graham is charged with forging.

County Judge Herbert Ronin bound Graham over to District Court for trial, after defense attorneys, Jack Devoe and Joseph Carlotto waived reading of the complaint and a preliminary hearing. Graham is free on a $1,500 appearance bond.

Rush For Building Permits Slackens But 40 Requested
Applications for building permits for new home construction slackened off Wednesday but still reached 40.

The 40 permits brings the total for this month to date to 441. To get in on the natural gas supply made available this week, however, builders or home owners must be in the process of framework construction by Dec. 1, according to Harold A. Thorson, district manager for Central Electric and Gas Company.

The new home rush will break just about every record now on the books. At an estimated average construction cost of $6,000, the 441 new homes applied for this month to date would cost $2,646,000.

The new home costs would thus break the record total cost of estimated construction for any one month of $2,423,800 set in June of 1951. Also the record number of permits issued that month and the record 278 dwelling permits issued would be broken.

'Transplanted Nebraskan' Becomes State Senator

A 35-year-old Army veteran, a "transplanted Nebraskan," took an oath of office at the State House Wednesday, and in speech clearly labeled Bostonian, swore his loyalty to the state and to his post as senator from the 33rd District.

He is George H. Frazier of Oxford, who was appointed to the office for the special legislative session by Gov. Val Peterson.

His first day as a state senator found the former staff sergeant with characteristic "Army determination" to do his job, but at the same time, revealed his good nature and ability to "take a joke"—traits sometimes not attributed to a "tough Sarge."

'Family Man'
Sen. Frazier is a decided "family man." He has five children, two boys and three girls, back home to prove it. They range in age from one year to 9.

But even though he admitted that the "kids" would have liked riding up and down the elevator in the State Capitol, he said he had left his wife and family home.

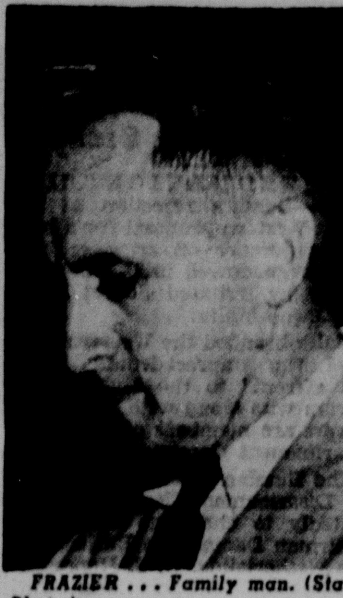

It was a Nebraska girl—his wife—who was responsible for his coming to Nebraska, where he has lived since 1943. Frazier met his wife, the former Vernelle Gupton of Oxford, in Washington, D.C., where they both began work the same day with the FBI.

On military leave, the Fraziers went to Oxford to visit and the New Englander "liked it and decided to stay." Mrs. Frazier's father, C. G. Gupton, and an uncle, L. H. Gupton, reside in Oxford.

Friendliness Sold Him
It was the "friendliness of the people" which sold Frazier on the Cornhusker state. He was born and raised in a suburb of Boston and said the air of friendliness here was "noticeable." "I really appreciate the chance to come down to Lincoln and serve in the Legislature," Frazier told The Star before he was sworn into office.

In his acceptance speech to members of the Legislature, he said, simply, "It is with deep humility that I accept this office and I shall endeavor, with all the powers of my command, to do the job as capably as my predecessor, Sen. Ed Hoyt of McCook."

Legislators Name Prohs As Speaker

A unanimous vote elected Sen. Otto Prohs, Gering, of the 42nd District, speaker of the Nebraska Unicameral for the duration of the special session which got underway Wednesday noon.

Prohs was elected unanimously after Sen. Charles Tvrdik of Omaha, who received the second largest number of votes on the first ballot, withdrew in favor of the western Nebraskan.

"This will be a fine gesture for his years of service here," said Tvrdik, upon withdrawal. He made mention of the fact that Prohs would "not be back next session."

Prohs was defeated by Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff in a bid for renomination in the April primary. He has served three terms in the legislature.

Hoyt Resignation
The election of a speaker was necessitated by the resignation from the legislature of Ed Hoyt, who now serves as deputy director of agriculture.

It had been speculated earlier Wednesday that election of a speaker might not be called for until the next regular legislative session in January of next year. The motion to nominate legislators for the speaker's position was initiated by Sen. Earl J. Lee of Fremont.

Other nominees in addition to Prohs, who received 19 votes on the first ballot, were: Sen. Robert McNutt of Lincoln, 2; Sen. Harry Pizer of North Platte, 5; Sen. Dwight Butney of Hartington, 1; Sen. Arthur Carmody of Trenton, 2; and Sen. Charles Tvrdik of Omaha, 8.

Prohs is chairman of the Committee on Public Works, serves on the committees of agriculture and education and is an alternate for the Committee on Intergovernmental co-operation.

School Land Board Has $7,385,858 Income

A $7,385,858.90 income was collected for the biennium ending June 30 by the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds, it was reported Wednesday.

This represented an increase of $4,865,108.32 over the collections during the biennium, June 30, 1948 to June 30, 1950.

The increase was due largely to $4,312,897.59 paid in 2,258 school land lease bonus sales and $857,049.84 in mineral leases from June 30, 1950 to June 30, 1952.

Johnson Reappointed To School Committee

R. C. Johnson of Mead has been reappointed to the committee for the reorganization of school districts for a five-year term ending Aug. 27, 1957, according to an announcement from Gov. Val Peterson.

Johnson has been on the committee since it was first created by the Legislature in 1949.

'Protestants Have Problem In Germany'

The splitting of Germany has created a special problem: Catholicism is strongest in West Germany, while most Protestants are behind the Iron Curtain.

This was explained by Dr. Odd Hagen of Sweden at Wednesday night's joint inspirational session of the annual Pastors School and School of Missions, meeting on the Nebraska Wesleyan University campus.

"The religious geography of Germany has changed very little since the Reformation," Dr. Hagen pointed out. "You will find the Catholics in Southern and Western Europe, Lutheranism in the Central and Northern parts, and most of the reformed churches on the borderline between these two churches."

"One reason Niemoller was worked so much for a 'come-to-understanding' with the Communist East is perhaps that he hopes to strengthen Protestantism in getting a united Germany—even at the expense of a great Communist influence."

Auditorium Plan Contract Being Drawn

Deputy City Attorney John Comstock hopes to have ready for next Tuesday's City Council meeting a contract for the services of the Associated Auditorium Architects in the preparation of plans and specifications for a new auditorium.

The contract will call for preparation of plans, specifications and cost estimates on construction of a main auditorium theater, a full basement and other alternate proposals requested by the Council.

While no date will be set in the contract for submission of the plans, it is expected the Architects will have the plans ready in about 60 days.

5% Fee
For their services, the Architects will receive a fee of 5 percent of the total cost of the structure, less an approximate $35,000 already paid the group on preparation of plans for the original auditorium. The cost of the 15th and M street site will not be included as a part of the cost of construction.

The contract also calls for the Architects to furnish a supervisor on the job for the first six months of construction.

The first thing the Architects will be called upon to do is to determine the necessary scarce materials needed for construction so the city can make application for material allotments. The building as now proposed will take considerable less materials than the auditorium planned some 13 years ago.

Mrs. Kittie Jeary's Estate Left To Children

Mrs. Kittie Jeary, who died Aug. 20, left $500 to a stepson and the remainder of her estate in trust to three children, under terms of a will filed for probate in County Court.

Mrs. Jeary directed that $500 be given to Albert Jeary, her stepson. Her daughter, May E. Coats, was given an option on the purchase of Mrs. Jeary's home and furniture.

The remainder of her estate will be placed in a trust for 10 years, to be divided equally among her children, Mrs. Coats, Clark Jeary and Mrs. Lena King. At the end of the ten-year period, the principal will be divided among the three children. Clark Jeary was named trustee.

City Extends Pact With Bartholomew Firm For 1 Year

A one-year contract for the continued services of Harland Bartholomew & Associates, St. Louis, Mo., city planners, has been approved by the City Planning Commission.

The contract calls for the full time service in Lincoln of Paul Watt, Bartholomew field engineer, to act in an advisory capacity to the Commission to carry on such activities as requested by the Commission.

The $8,800 fee also provides for six trips to Lincoln during the year by one member of the firm from St. Louis. The firm has just completed a comprehensive plan of the 14-chapter city plan for Lincoln.

The Commission held for consideration by a full membership the request of the Lincoln Home Builders Association for the auctioning of Sherwood Park in Havelock. Sherwood is a part of a large tract of ground recommended for development of a park by Bartholomew.

$133,269 Bid On 11 Resurfacing Jobs

A combination of low bids totaling $133,269.88 have been received at the City Hall from Dobson Bros. Construction company for completion of 11 arterial resurfacing projects.

Dobson was low and below the city's estimate on all 11 projects. The contract for the work will probably be awarded Tuesday.

The projects involved and Dobson's bid:

- Resurfacing of D from 10th to 22nd, $11,482.
- Resurfacing of 17th, F to G, $10,027.40.
- Resurfacing of 21st, K to O, $5,940.50.

Cutting southwest and northeast corners from intersection of 17th and A, $3,491.

The improvement program just about eats up the entire $160,000 in the city's gas tax fund which will pay for the work. While the fund was being saved for federal matching purposes and new construction, the City Council just recently authorized the engineering department to spend the money to improve existing streets.

Two other projects were also bid on at the City Hall. The Abel Construction Company submitted the low bid of $268.40 for graveling of Meredith, 46th to 47th and $302.80 for graveling of Madison, 43rd to 44th.

What Chance Has A Man?

That is an intensely human, sensible column by Marquis Childs which appears on this page today. It is well worth the reading.

Earlier in the week (Monday) we had written that both Gen. Eisenhower and Gov. Stevenson had found themselves buried under an avalanche of advice. We had suggested that perhaps each man was entitled to be himself, to speak his thoughts, to serve his conscience, to say and do the things he thought were right—to be free in the finest sense of the word. Gov. Stevenson has an advantage in this matter. He has been through this thing before. He knows when to speak softly and to tread lightly and when to bear down. Ike is a new comer. Nothing in his experience has prepared him for the undercurrents which swirl or muddy American politics. So he finds himself pushed and pulled, hauled from one side of the road to another, rendered cautious and at times inept by the conflicts within his party.

Gov. Stevenson had his one acid test when an ambitious Texan, Gov. Shivers, called upon the Democratic candidate to sound him out on Tidelands oil. There are Democrats in Texas, prominent Democrats, who insist that Gov. Shivers plans to dominate his party on the Tidelands oil issue which strikes a strong, rocketbook concern with most Texans. Whatever his plans may be, the fact remains that he did not get very far with Gov. Stevenson. So he is off the reservation, along with the candidate for the United States Senate, and three or four presidential electors in Louisiana. He is presumably for Ike because Ike, in facing up with the Tidelands oil issue, hesitantly, cautiously on the basis of his own statements has been on both sides of the fence, and finally has thrown in with Shivers.

Gen. Eisenhower faces an even greater test, an unfair test, we are inclined to think. There are those within his party who insist he go it whole hog or none. They demand that he transform himself into a "fighting man" in terms of politics, denouncing everything that has been done, throwing the book at the record of the New Deal and the Fair Deal.

The danger of that is apparent. It centers upon foreign policy. To some extent, at least,

Gen. Eisenhower has been a part of foreign policy, and a very important part. Now he is expected to denounce it without reservation in the most blistering language, a fighting man aroused to fighting pitch by the "blunders" of the administration. We have no idea what the American people will think, if they stop to think, about this changed role cut out for Eisenhower. It could be exceedingly dangerous in alienating what allies remain for us. The first evidence of it came from the shock and the regret which ran through French and British opinion in newspaper comment upon Gen. Eisenhower's American Legion address.

The words were Eisenhower's but the ideas therein expressed belonged to John Foster Dulles. Now, Mr. Dulles also in public mind—perhaps more than the facts justify—has been associated with foreign policy. He says that the present course leads inevitably to World War III. He insists that the policy of containment of Communism be tossed overboard for a bold program of counter-aggression by this country. We should anticipate Russia. We should initiate upon our own score. We should talk tough and be tough. It is anybody's guess where that could lead. Among some of the most powerful elements in Britain and France, clearly it leads to apprehension that we may find ourselves the instigator of a major global conflict involving the great powers, or World War III.

Apparently Gen. Eisenhower has made up his mind. He will talk tough, be tough. He will not be the man the American people have known. He will be a composite Eisenhower, constructed by politicians out of the conflicting currents within his own party, foreign to him, outwardly, at least, repudiating his previous activities. Neither Gen. Eisenhower nor Mr. Dulles have been the architects of American foreign policy. Their participation has been limited either to advisory or, in Gen. Eisenhower's case, administrative responsibility for putting into effect what had been decided upon. To distinguish between the part they played and what they now say on foreign policy places a strain on credulity. In brief, it is difficult to understand why either Mr. Dulles or Gen. Eisenhower would have served in the roles they filled if in their hearts they felt those assignments carried us inevitably to World War III.

Sen. Taft's Ten Questions

From his summer home in Canada where he has been vacationing, the grapevine informed us that Sen. Bob Taft had written to more than 500 delegates to the Republican National Convention to thank them for their support. Not much of a vacation for a man who performed a miracle of physical endurance in campaigning, traveling thousands of miles, speaking as many as ten times a day, meeting hundreds of thousands of people and holding endless conferences.

That letter was brief and to some extent cryptic in its content. Opening with an expression of thanks, it assured the recipients that both Sen. Taft and they must remain loyal to their convictions and fight for them. Then followed another expression of gratitude.

John Jarrell comes up with a story that

Taft has sent ten questions touching upon policy to Gen. Eisenhower, questions as yet unanswered. Mr. Taft, Jarrell says, must have satisfactory assurance from the Republican candidate before Taft will campaign for the ticket of Eisenhower and Nixon. Thus far the assurance has not been forthcoming, with the result that the much discussed meeting between Taft and Eisenhower in early September is still in an uncertain state.

Failing to get assurance acceptable to his own views, Sen. Taft will limit himself to campaigning for congressional colleagues who face a tough fight.

It was apparent in Chicago that the breach was deep and that any reconciliation would be more superficial than real. The developing facts seem to confirm this conclusion.

Agreeing Upon Highways

There is still more than four months to go before the newly elected Nebraska Unicameral Legislature gathers in Lincoln. It could use a clearcut expression from the many groups interested in highways to formulate a program of legislative action.

The prime need, of course, is money. And how shall more money be raised? Noting that Gov. Peterson did not include the road problem in his call for a special session, since a poll of the present legislators showed a majority of 8 to 1 against considering a road program, The Omaha World Herald adds:

"Before that time (January) the advocates of better roads for Nebraska ought to try to agree on a program. We suggest that they pay particular attention to a ten-mile tax on trucks, such as is now used in a dozen states. This tax seems to offer the best chance of collecting highway revenue from those who take the most out of the roads—the commercial truckers."

Otherwise the legislature will be up against taking the bull by the horns. It did when it passed a cent gasoline tax increase and increased motor vehicle license fees, only to get its ears slapped back in referendums taken on both measures.

The important thing, it would seem, is a concerted effort to bring about a unity on the road program. There is not too much time left to do this.

Blood And Patriotism

Once again, as it happens every so often, a suggestion has been made that blood donations to the Red Cross be spurred by an incentive provided by the federal government. This time the proposal is in the form of a letter from a top Washington attorney, who wrote to Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder that blood donations should be made tax deductible.

The letter stated that blood is "as real a possession as money," and has a definite monetary value—established generally at $25 a pint. Since blood donations could be classified under charitable contributions, the letter continues, a receipt could be given for each donation and then at the end of the year the blood donors would be permitted a tax deduction equal to the value of the donations.

To the credit of the Treasury Department, it has given the proposal a cool reception. Patriotism is not a marketable quality, nor should it be tabulated like grocery bills. But while this is not the answer to the lack of blood plasma, which occasionally becomes desperate, some answer must be found soon.

The Red Cross has assumed a commitment since September, 1951, to furnish the armed forces 300,000 pints of whole blood a month. It is not the fault of that excellent organization that the commitment has not yet been met completely. The requirements are great. Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said recently that "98 out of every 100 wounded in Korea are being saved," and that one of the most important reasons for the reduction in our military death rate has been the "availability of plasma at the battlefield and whole blood in the hospitals."

This need on the battlefield, not an income tax deduction, should be the reason for ever-increasing donations of blood to the Red Cross.

DREW PEARSON

McCarthy Opponent Discusses Campaign

(Editor's note: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by guest columnists.)

By LEN SCHMITT
Attorney, Merrill, Wisconsin

MERRILL, Wis.—When I decided to make the run against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy in the Wisconsin Republican primary election, several of my friends in northern Wisconsin asked me why. They were as much appalled by McCarthy's record and by what has come to be called McCarthyism as I was, but their attitude seemed to be that I was foolish to disrupt my rather comfortable life to enter a campaign against such an adversary as McCarthy. On the surface, this attitude made some sense.

During the years, I have built up a substantial law practice in Merrill, Wis., my home town. I have a comfortable life, including a fine summer home on one of Wisconsin's beautiful lakes near Hayward. And on top of that, this particular year I was in a position to take it easy as far as my law practice was concerned. But I could not let those factors influence me, because this fight against McCarthy and what he stands for goes far deeper than the physical comfort of a middle-aged attorney named Len Schmitt.

Under normal circumstances in Wisconsin, McCarthy wouldn't have a chance for re-election. His personal record is such that Wisconsin voters, reared in the tradition of old Bob La Follette, would repudiate him utterly if it weren't for another factor on which he is relying and which must be fought to the limit.

Consider the senator's record. In 1943, when he was in military service, he made a $40,000 killing in the stock market, but he reported to the state tax authorities that he had received no income from Wisconsin and thus believed he was not a resident of the state. He did not mention the $40,000 stock market profit. This did not come to light until some years later and McCarthy did not get away with this maneuver, but it is worth noting that the very next year he considered himself so much a resident of Wisconsin that he ran for the office of U. S. senator. He was defeated.

Later, his record as a circuit court judge came to public attention. The fact that he ran for the U. S. Senate while still a circuit court judge, despite a constitutional edict to the contrary, was brought out and McCarthy was severely censured by the state supreme court.

As a senator, McCarthy accepted $10,000 from the defunct Lustron Housing Corporation when he was serving on a committee investigating the RFC which held Lustron notes to the extent of $37,000,000. At that time Lustron was trying to get additional loans from the RFC. McCarthy accepted the $10,000 for a booklet on housing which consisted chiefly of federal housing regulations.

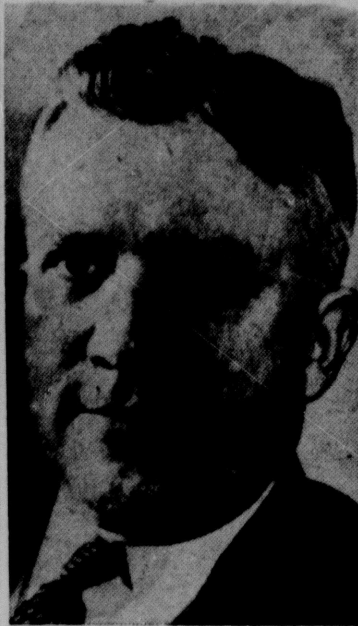

McCarthy's tangled personal finances came to light, including a $72,000 loan by the Appleton State Bank which was secured, at one point, by a $20,000 note signed by a widely known Washington sugar lobbyist. McCarthy in the years 1946 to 1949, had an income of $66,000, but he paid no state income tax, claiming either interest on stock losses or deductions to offset the tax. In one year he claimed interest payments of $15,000 which if capitalized at four per cent would mean an indebtedness of $375,000.

Such a record would mean political sudden death in Wisconsin under normal circumstances, but McCarthy is trying to cover it up with his shotgun charges of Communist in government and elsewhere. Here we come to the factor I mentioned earlier. McCarthy has resorted to the technique used by the propagandists of the dictators in recent years—in Germany, Italy and Russia.

He is trying to create fear and hysteria in a people rightfully concerned about the danger of Communism to our way of life. He is attempting to create the impression that anyone who opposes McCarthy must be a Communist or a fellow traveler. His charges are so outrageous (witness the accusations against Gen. George Marshall) that people are inclined to say that the claims must be true—the Goebbels technique. McCarthy makes so many charges that few citizens can keep abreast and so they do not examine each charge carefully to find the fraud.

In my opinion, this is an evil thing, but the potential evil is the greater danger. McCarthy is, I believe, creating a situation which could result in something utterly horrible in this country—real thought control. I do not believe that McCarthy personally is capable of carrying this thing to its ultimate end, but there are others in this country who could and would. It is easy to see the signs.

LEONARD SCHMITT

I run into people in Wisconsin, for example, who have doubts about Paul Hoffman, head of the Ford Foundation, because he branded McCarthy's charges against Gen. Marshall as "fantastically false." I find people who express doubts about such newspapers as The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, The Christian Science Monitor, The Milwaukee Journal because they have condemned McCarthy.

There is an atmosphere being created which is alien to America and most of all alien to Wisconsin, a state which led the way in years past in developing the dignity of the individual and of emphasizing the importance of ideas. McCarthy, in my opinion, is now undermining that great pioneer effort.

I despise the system in Russia precisely because it is directly opposite to that pioneer Wisconsin idea which recognized the importance of the individual. I am sure that the United States can defeat Communism by emphasizing our concept of personal freedom. This does not mean the right to acquire material gadgets. I am not a free man because I drive an 8-cylinder, 180 horsepower car. I am free because I can state my own views, which are a product of my own mind, openly and without fear. It is the right which men all over the world long for and prize most highly.

PIONEER STAR READERS

From Father To Son, A Habit Confirmed

When a man who has been connected with The Star almost since it was "born" comes up to the office he finds himself at home with friends.

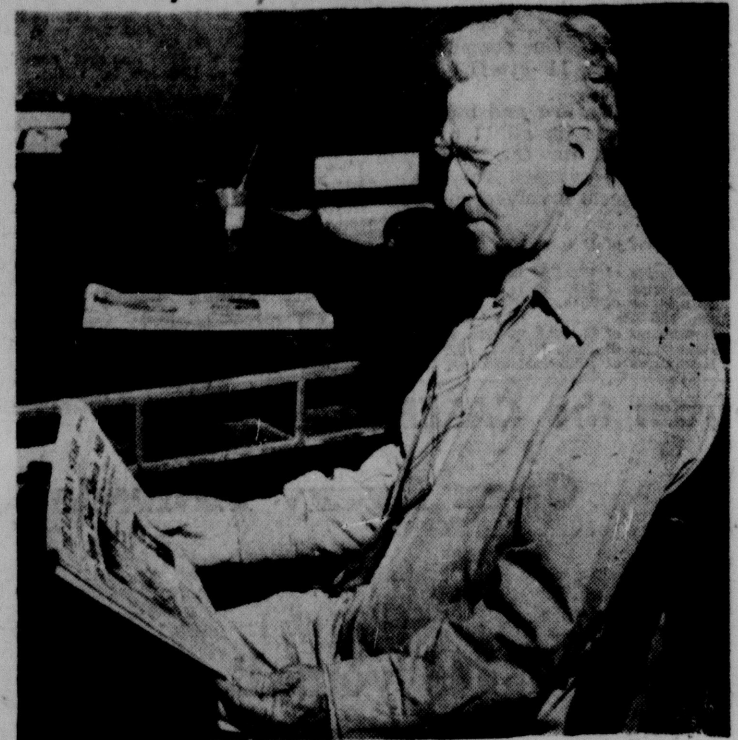

Such a faithful Star reader is J. F. Schultz, 73, of Guide Rock, who says he "couldn't do without" Nebraska's Capital City morning newspaper.

Schultz first came to know The Star through his father, John Schultz, who subscribed to the paper when it was founded in 1902.

When the elder Schultz' eyesight began to fade his son read him the news and editorials, and 40 years ago John Schultz transferred his subscription to his son.

Schultz remembers meeting The Star's editor, J. E. Lawrence, in Red Cloud "back in the depression days, when Webster County farmers were hard-hit by the drought."

The best thing in the paper, year in and year out, the Guide Rock man said, is the news and the way it is handled. The editorials also rated "tops" with him.

Monetary Systems

Broken Bow, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Now they advocate a "price control law" to head off inflation. What will this do to our much prated free enterprise system? It stands to reason that our capitalistic economy will not stand up under price tinkering. It also stands to reason that taxing the people of this USA will not control inflation. It is doing the opposite, creating a vicious circle with no end in sight.

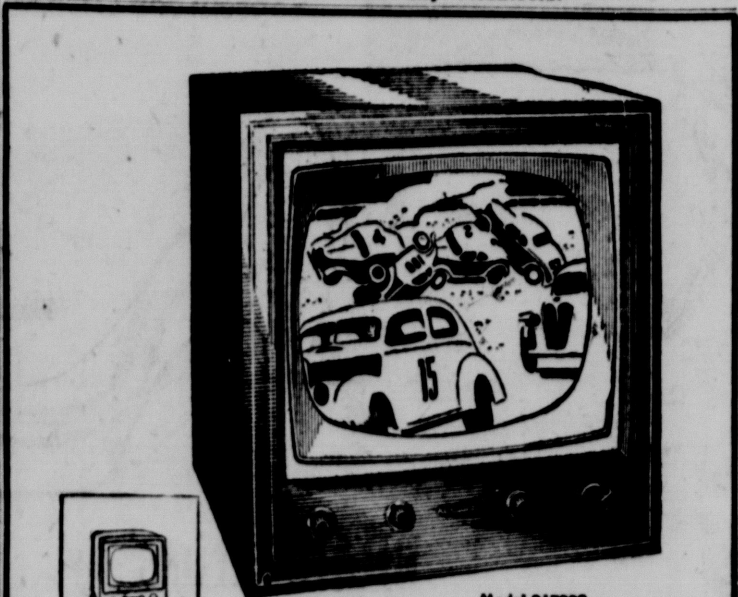

To preserve our capitalistic economy, we must revamp our financial system—in other words, absolutely discontinue the Federal Reserve system—and effect a right-about-face in our monetary control by going back to the system of early days which demanded a stable, 100-cent dollar. Inflation and deflation are proof

Vote Registration Near Record

Split Among Parties Is About Same

Total registration for the Nov. 1 general election has climbed to within 309 names of the record figure established before last April's primary.

Actually, the present figure might be considered a record. The 47,489 figure set last April contained 1,650 challenged registrations which were removed right after the primary.

The split between Republicans, Democrats and non-political voters remains about the same. Last April the split was 28,335 Republicans, 17,978 Democrats and 11,076 non-political. The split now is 28,269 Republicans, 17,730 Democrats and 11,081 non-political.

Closes Oct. 25
Registration closes Oct. 25 but election commission officials urge early registration to relieve the usual last minute rush.

The political split in 1950, however, meant little. Democratic Candidate for Governor Walter Raebke went on to win in Lancaster County even with the smaller number of registered voters behind him.

For that reason, election receiving boards this November will consist of three democrats and two republicans. Counting boards will remain two and two along party lines.

Boards Prepared
Election commission officials are now preparing the list of 1,130 counting and receiving board members for legal notice purposes. Board members proposed have until five days after publication of the list to make objection to their appointment.

Following the last day for objections, the election commissioner will send out notices to the board members.

There will be one more election inspection this election than there was last April. Two new inspectors will be needed to take care of the split in the 10th precinct where two wards have been cut in half.

An inspector will be dropped, however, due to the merger of the two wards in Huxleville. Huxleville voters will now all vote at the same polling place.

New Salvation Army Head Is A 'Building' Scotchman

By JOE VOSOB
Star Staff Writer

A Scotchman who helped build the Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mary hopes to do some building, of a different type, in Lincoln.

Capt. Walter D. Kennedy Wednesday took over direction of Salvation Army activities here. His wife is also a captain in the Salvation Army.

A native of Clydebank, Scotland, Capt. Kennedy came to the U.S. three years ago, and has been at Aberdeen, S.D., since. In Aberdeen he was active in Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber, Kiwanis and other community activities.

Capt. Kennedy did some promoting at Aberdeen. He brought two great bands to the town: the Flint, Mich., Citadel band and the Chicago Staff Band.

About 4,000 persons heard the Flint band. The Salvation Army man said the project cost the S.A. there $4,000 to promote and left them a profit of $17, commenting: "That's real Scotch financing."

The Chicago band appearance was coupled with that of 11 high school bands and turned into a community project, with the governor of the state and about 3,000 persons attending.

In 1950 Capt. Kennedy was honored as Aberdeen's "Snowman" at the annual snow-festival there.

A member of the Salvation Army all his life, he became an officer in 1934 and was stationed at London, Darlington and other British Isle cities.

During the war he returned to his trade of shipbuilding and also served as an air raid warden during the March, 1941, Nazi blitz of Clydebank, in which 1,500 homes were destroyed.

Mrs. Kennedy, who is English, joined the Salvation Army after her marriage. The Kennedys have one son, Gavin, 10.

Capt. Kennedy succeeds Major Bert Locker, who was transferred to Sioux City, Ia.

Telegram Cost Boosted

WASHINGTON (INS) — The night letter services as well as for money orders. The commission denied a request filed by the American Communications Association for suspension of the proposed price increases.

The new rates, which will boost telegraph charges from five to ten cents for a 15-word telegram, are designed to net the company about $13,200,000 a year.

Other increases for special services range from six to 20 per cent., while special rates applying to press dispatches will go up about six and one-half per cent.

The company said the increases are necessary to meet the pay hikes resulting from a 53-day strike of telegraph workers which ended May 23.

The new rates will continue the recently-established word allowances of 15 words instead of ten on a day message and 50 words instead of 25 in a night message.

There will be corresponding price increases for day letter and

Gillette Report To Be Ready After Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gillette (D-Ia) said Wednesday his investigating subcommittee will not be able to file reports of its findings in the bitter feud between Sens. Benton (D-Conn.) and McCarty (R-Wis.) before the November election.

"I had hoped to file a report before the elections in fairness to each of them," Gillette told a reporter, "but it now appears this will be impossible."

Lincolnton To Study In Europe On Scholarship

James H. Carmel, who received a B.A. degree with distinction from the University of Nebraska in 1949, will study in western Europe on a Fulbright scholarship.

He has been chief preparator and associate curator of education for Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield, Mich., and has prepared exhibitions for the Nebraska State Museum, the American Museum of Natural History and the Cranbrook Institute. He will study techniques of planning science exhibitions.

Schools' Role Outlined To Teachers

"The education of our young people takes on increasing importance because the present world emergency is in large part a struggle of ideas and ideals—a moral and spiritual struggle that will be won finally by educational progress, not atomic bombs."

Opening his address with the statement of a national citizen-educator, Dr. Steven N. Watkins, Superintendent of Lincoln Public Schools, outlined to 677 teachers in general meeting Wednesday the historical struggle for America's system of schools and current progress in education, both nationally and locally.

"In the totalitarian view, the state assumes the highest preference... to which individuals must submit. From our point of view, government and institutions are servants of the people while the worth of the individual and proper development of human personalities reigns supreme."

While the struggle for "universal public education" is still in some measure going on, the future of our educational system indicates the need for development or expansion of a system which locates early the academically superior mind and provides a special system of education. Watkins said in effect.

He listed some steps which have been taken in the Lincoln system:

1. Although the school holds to an age limit for entrance, it has the power of grade placement and children, superior mentally and physically, have been advanced in grades or have been permitted to carry on an extended program.
2. We have now in our system a continuing committee set-up to locate the superior child in elementary grades and to assist in his educational program.
3. The program of extra-curricular activities are all for the individual benefit of special abilities or interests.
4. And most important (as compared with totalitarian philosophy) we do not attempt to control through state censorship an individual's freedom of thought.

"In spite of our present problems of large enrollments, teacher shortages and school plant needs, we can say that in general children go to better schools... to better prepared teachers... and achieve more than their parents or grandparents in school," the superintendent said.

Constant Crisis

"For more than 20 years I have heard constantly of the crisis in education. Now I am consoled to the thought that education must have been born in crisis and thus it will ever be."

"If you (teachers) and I can but hold with a firm grasp to the achievements of the past and fundamental concepts that have helped us to achieve the present, we will have no need to be disheartened."

Home From Hospital

Lyle Stewart, 15, of 913 Belmont, was taken home from St. Elizabeth Hospital Wednesday after recovering from bruises received in a hit and run accident Monday.

Mrs. Seymour D. Breck Dies; Former Lincolnite

Mrs. Seymour D. Breck, 65-year-old former Havelock resident, died at her home in Portland, Ore., Saturday.

She was a member of the Havelock Christian Church while living here. Mrs. Breck was born at Grand Island and came to Lincoln 50 years ago. She left 15 years ago to live at Nashville, Tenn.

Surviving are her husband, one son, one daughter and three grandchildren.

Man Is Fined $106 On Three Charges

Municipal Judge John Jacobson Wednesday fined Irvin D. Baker of 1440 P $50 for resisting arrest, $50 for drunken driving and $6 for speeding.

In addition, Baker's driver's license was suspended for one year in connection with the drunken driving charge.

Baker filed notice of appeal from all convictions. He pleaded not guilty to all counts.

Officer Edwin Kringle and Sgt. R. J. McMeen testified that Baker ran four light signals and stop signs as the two were attempting to arrest him for drunken driving.

Lincolnite's Condition Is Good After He Collapses

Samuel A. Johnston of 2035 So. 50th, who collapsed in a grocery store Wednesday, was reported in very good condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Johnston's physician said the attack was "unconsciousness, reason unknown."

Cherry County Ranks 7th In Cattle Sales

11 Nebraska Counties In Leading 100

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only six counties in the nation sold more live cattle and calves in 1949 than did Nebraska's Cherry County, the Census Bureau reported Thursday.

Cuming, Custer, Holt, Dawson and Lincoln counties, all in Nebraska, also ranked high.

Weld County, Colorado, was the champion in cattle sales, not only in number but in dollar receipts, according to the 1950 census. It sold 188,194 cattle for $3,162,659.

Of the 100 leading cattle counties, 17 were in Iowa, 14 in Wisconsin, 12 in California, 11 in Nebraska, 10 in Illinois, five each in Colorado and New York, four in Kansas, three each in Texas and Minnesota, two each in Montana, South Dakota, New Mexico, Arizona and Pennsylvania, and one each in Oregon, Washington, Oklahoma, Nevada, Alabama and Missouri.

Iowa County 6th

Three California counties and one Arizona county, all of large acreage, were in the first five. Sixth place went to Iowa's Pottawattamie County, along the Nebraska border across from Omaha.

Here's how Nebraska counties ranked, first as to number of cattle sold and second as to dollar receipts from those sales:

Cherry: 7th in numbers with 93,105; 13th in dollars with $13,200,000.

Cuming: 12th in numbers with 77,870; 6th in dollars with 17 million.

Custer: 19th in numbers with 67,170; 30th in dollars with nine million.

Holt: 34th in numbers with 54,000.

the fire, which was fought by firemen from six towns. Three walls and the roof of the one-story brick, masonry wood building fell in about 45 minutes after the fire started. The fourth wall, shown here, was later pushed down by firemen as a safety measure. (Photo Special To The Star.)

4 Youths Fined At Beaver City

BEAVER CITY, Neb. (AP)—Four Cambridge youths have been fined for assault and a fifth person has been charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm as a result of a disturbance last Saturday night and Sunday Morning.

Jerry Minnick, Darrell Rayburn, Ross Newcomb and Gerald Hilton each were fined $10 and costs for assault on Harlan Pollard in an affair which allegedly followed a long chase involving Pollard's car and two cars in which the youths were riding.

Minnick is a University of Nebraska football star. County Attorney Paul Pettygrove charged Pollard with assault with intent to do great

F. Hammond Dies; Ex-owner Fremont Tribune

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—Frank Hammond, 94, a Fremont, Neb., newspaperman from 1880 to 1936, died in Long Beach, Calif., Tuesday night.

A native of La Grand, Ia., where he was born in 1858, Hammond came to Fremont in 1879 and with F. W. Browne purchased the Fremont Tribune. He was continuously associated with this paper until Frank Hammond was sold in 1936. The Tribune later was consolidated with the Fremont Guide to form the present Fremont Guide and Tribune.

At one time Hammond's 58-year association with the Tribune was believed to have been the longest time that any person had served a single paper so long in Nebraska.

Hammond had many civic interests. Survivors include three sons and a daughter: R. E. Hammond of Fremont, Ray W. Hammond of Riverside, Calif., Earl R. Hammond and Mrs. A. C. Christiansen, both of Long Beach, Calif.

3 Omahans Held In 6 Albion Breakins

ALBION, Neb. (AP)—John Villone, 25, of Omaha was bound over to District Court Wednesday on charges of breaking and entering in connection with six break-ins at Albion during last Thursday night.

Eldon Peterson, 25, and Robert Kuhn, 24, also of Omaha were held without charge in connection with the same series of break-ins. Burglars who broke into the Dewey Miller garage here used one of the firm's own acetylene torch outfits, forced open the safe, and escaped with between $1,500 and $1,600 in cash.

Nabbed At Omaha
Breakins also were discovered at the Glasgow Pool Hall, where the thieves took $3.50 in nickels and a pool cue which they used to break in a door at the Coast to Coast Store next door.

At that store they opened a safe and got about $15. They also took a small radio but left it at Frank Svoboda's produce station where Svoboda said they took about $30. Also entered were a Safeway store and Doering's ready-to-wear store, but nothing was reported missing at either place.

The three were picked up in Omaha over the week-end at the request of Albion authorities.

Teachers Getting Air View Of Soil, Conservation Work

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Grand Island teachers have taken to the air this week for a bird's eye view of soil conservation and reclamation in central Nebraska.

About 100 teachers, attending a week-long workshop held each year in advance of the opening of the school term, have participated in flights extending as far west as Lexington, south into the Tri-County area and then back into Grand Island.

See Mid-State Area
On these flights they have seen from the air soil conservation practices as exemplified at eight farms which have been marked by large Roman numerals, and reclamation works in the Mid-State Reclamation District including sites for the main reservoirs contemplated.

The flights also followed the Tri-County area's Phelps County Canal to its end. Farms viewed by the flying school ma'ams were those of Everett Mieth, Herman Link, Joe Hervert, Louis Mugerl, Joe Pesek, George Jensen, O. L. Erickson and Farris Hubbert.

The Soil Conservation portion of the tour was arranged by Adrian Fox and H. F. Tagge of the Soil Conservation Service in Lincoln and the flights were arranged by Marilyn C. Link of the University of Nebraska.

Rites Held At Wilber For Joseph J. Kalcik

WILBER, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Funeral services were held here Wednesday for Joseph J. Kalcik, 80, who died unexpectedly at his home. Born in Czechoslovakia, he lived in Omaha for 38 years before coming to Wilber 11 years ago. He farmed until his death. Surviving is his wife, Mrs. Rosie Kalcik.

Nixon Planning Busy Day With Nebraska GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Richard M. Nixon, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, will come to Nebraska from New England for conferences and a speech Sept. 8.

Nixon said he will arrive in Grand Island, Neb., by plane early in the afternoon of Sept. 8. He plans to drive to Kearney for conferences with GOP leaders and Young Republicans.

That evening, he will address an open air rally, highlight of the Nebraska post-primary Republican convention in Kearney.

The California senator plans to leave by train for Chicago that night and then fly on to Washington the following morning.

$40,000 Estate Bequeathed To Cambridge

Entire Sum Designated For Hospital

BEAVER CITY, Neb. (AP)—The late John Decker of Cambridge bequeathed his entire estate, estimated worth $35,000 to $40,000, to the city of Cambridge for a community hospital to be known as Decker Memorial Hospital.

This was disclosed after the 30-day appeal period following admission of Decker's will to probate by County Judge C. A. Modlin, had expired.

The will provides that the community hospital be operated on a non-profit basis and must be completed within three years from the date of Decker's death.

Hugh Eisenhart, mayor of Cambridge and executor of the will, said that the city council will consider appointment of a hospital board at its next meeting Sept. 1.

Objections Voiced To Fremont-Wahoo Area Rent Controls

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—More than 300 persons let it be known that the bulk of them do not favor rent control in the Fremont-Wahoo areas.

The public hearing, called by the Rent Stabilization Board, was presided over by Oscar Abern, regional director of the Office of Rent Stabilization, Chicago. He was assisted by Flint Dupre of the Rent Stabilization office in Washington.

Witnesses in their testimony brought out that because of a new home building program in Fremont, there is no shortage of rental homes or apartments. Similar sentiment was expressed by those coming from Wahoo and North Bend.

The so-called Fremont-Wahoo critical area consists of all of Saunders County and the townships of Cotterell, Elkhorn, Maple, Nickerson, Platte and Union.

State Synodical Meeting Slated

HASTINGS, Neb.—Miss Mary Ingram, area secretary for foreign missions, will be one of the principal speakers at the 76th annual meeting of the Nebraska Synodical Society (Presbyterian) on Sept. 2-4 at Hastings College.

Miss Ingram recently returned from a tour of mission stations in the Philippines, Thailand, India, Pakistan, the Near East, Spain and Portugal.

Dr. Orlo Chogull, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Topeka, Kan., will conduct a course in Bible study.

The sesquicentennial (150 years) of national missions will be celebrated Wednesday with Dr. John Thompson Peters of the General Council in New York as the speaker.

Four seminars will be held for study guidance during the coming year. They will be based on fellowship evangelism, race relations, national and foreign missions.

Leaders will be Miss Ingram, Mrs. Monroe Usher of Lincoln, secretary for social education and action, and the Rev. Charles E. Tyler of Hillside Presbyterian Church in Omaha.

Dr. Silas G. Kessler, pastor of the First Presbyterian in Hastings, is the synod moderator and Mrs. Glen A. Avery is the president of the Synodical Society.

Joan Carveth Is Bride

The altar of St. Mathews Church, Episcopal, was appointed with lighted white candles and white garden flowers arranged in spreading bouquets, for the marriage of Miss Joan Carveth, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter William Carveth, to Thomas Lawrence McKee Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lawrence McKee of Price, Utah, which was solemnized at high noon, Wednesday, Aug. 27.

The Rev. William Paul Barnard read the lines of the ceremony, and the wedding music was played by John P. Gilligan Jr., organist. Mr. Gilligan also presented a prelude of organ music, including "Oh, Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The maid of honor and her sister's only attendant was Miss Sara Lee Carveth, who was frocked in orchid-toned lace. A brief, fitted bolero edged with satin, covered the bodice, and the demi-length skirt was caught into fullness. She carried a modern bouquet of Rubrum lilies and white chrysanthemums tufted with lacyon.

Serving as best man was Kenneth McKee of Price, Utah, and seating the guests was Stephen Carveth.

The bride's waltz-length gown was fashioned of white cotton lace and nylon net. A narrow ruching of net edged the strapless bodice, which was veiled by a long-sleeved jacket of the lace, accented by a tiny standing collar and closed down the front with satin-covered buttons. The widely-flaring skirt was worn over an underskirt of the net which ended in a deep flounce, and her veil of French illusion was held to the head by a boxed cap of lace traced with seed pearls. She carried a white orchid encircled with Stephanotis.

MRS. THOMAS LAWRENCE MCKEE JR.

Immediately following the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was held at the home of the bride's parents after which Mr. McKee and his bride left for a wedding trip to Denver, Colo., and Salt Lake City, Utah, later to reside in Lincoln.

Wednesday Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Donna Lois Frederickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Frederickson of College Park, Md., to Lee Dallas Stauffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Stauffer of Wakefield, was solemnized early Wednesday evening, August 27, at the First Lutheran church in Lincoln. White glad-ceremony were read by the Rev. Clarence P. Hall, and Miss Ruth Lemke of Walton, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Lemke also accompanied Mrs. Dennis Rohrs of Wahoo, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," "The Pledge," and "London-derry Air."

Miss Janet Oakeson of Lincoln, was the maid of honor and wore a frock of champagne net over rose-beige taffeta designed with a fitted basque and full ballet-length skirt. A cap of the net and taffeta completed her ensemble, and she carried a bouquet of copper-toned Fujii chrysanthemums.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white organza over taffeta. A bateau throat-line edged with organza lace, and long fitted sleeves accented the molded bodice, and beneath a draped peplum of the organza, the full skirt tapered into a train. An organza cap held her shoulder veil of illusion, and white Fujii chrysanthemums and ivy fashioned her bridal bouquet.

Irwin Krasnoff of Lincoln, served Mr. Stauffer as best man, and the ushers were James Hanson of Akron, Ohio, and Paul Frederickson of College Park, Md., brother of the bride.

Assisting at the reception, which was held at the church, were Miss Nancy Munson, Miss Phyllis Johnson, and Mrs. Carl Christoffersen, sister of the bride.

The couple will reside at St. Paul, Minn., where the bridegroom will enter the University of Minnesota college of law. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mr. Stauffer has been employed by the Lincoln-Lancaster county public health department.

The bride, who will complete her studies in occupational therapy at the University of Minnesota, has attended Grand View college and the University of Nebraska.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. John Veach, of Sheridan, Oregon, are visiting in Lincoln at the home of Mr. Veach's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Veach. The visitors came to Lincoln from Beatrice, their former home, where they have been visiting for the last month. From Lincoln they plan to go to Iowa and Illinois returning to the west coast by the way of St. Louis and Kansas City.

Mrs. Gale Dierberger of O'Neill arrived on Sunday to be the house guest of her mother, Mrs. Lillian Ogden. On next Sunday, August 31, Mrs. Dierberger will be the matron of honor in the wedding of her sister, Miss Marlene Ogden. On Saturday, Mr. Dierberger and young Stephen Dierberger will arrive to be here for the wedding.

TOWN TALK

Guests From Wisconsin

PREDOMINATING THIS morning's news, which includes vacationing travelers and the school set's activities, are former Lincoln residents who are back in town, either for short visits or to make their home in the city.

THE NEW residents will be Dr. and Mrs. Schuyler Brown and their four children who arrive this week-end from Hot Springs, S. D., to move into the home of Mrs. Brown's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Wesley C. Becker. Mrs. Brown will be remembered as the former Arnetta Becker, a member of Alpha Phi at the University of Nebraska.

OTHER FORMER Lincoln residents who will be in town this week-end are Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Nolte and their sons, Ned and Craig. Mrs. Nolte and the boys, who have been vacationing in South Dakota, will come to Lincoln on Thursday from Beatrice where they have been the guests of Mrs. Nolte's sister, Mrs. Harold Boortman. They will be joined by Mr. Nolte for a brief visit with Lincoln friends before returning to their home at Seguin, Tex.

WORD HAS BEEN received by Mrs. H. R. Schickley of the birth of a daughter to her son, Lieut. Richard C. Harpham, and Mrs. Harpham, at Arlington, Va., where Lieut. Harpham is stationed with the armed forces. Mrs. Harpham is the former Margaretta Snow of Meriden, Conn.

NEWS OF TRAVELERS includes Prof. and Mrs. William Hall, their daughters, Louise and Dorothy, and son, John, who will be home on Friday following a vacation trip to Washington and Oregon.

AND SOMEONE told us that Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Henderson, their daughter, Lois, their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Henderson, had returned from their holiday trip to Canada—En route home they were joined in Minnesota by another daughter, Cynthia, who had spent eight weeks at Camp Holiday.

Before returning to Lincoln the Henderson family were the guests, briefly, of Mr. and Mrs. James Miles in Minneapolis.

MRS. J. B. DIRKS of Evanston, Ill., arrived a day or two ago to spend two weeks as the house guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Van Patten.

Arriving last Monday for a month's visit in Lincoln were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simon of Madison, Wis., who are the houseguests of Mr. Simon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simon.

Numerous courtesies have been planned in honor of the guests who will return mid-September to Madison, where Mr. Simon is completing his studies for a Ph. D. degree in English history at the University of Wisconsin. Mrs. Simon will be a senior this year at the University of Wisconsin.

Junior Golf Tournament Begins

Hats Can Be Treasures

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

When a hat combines flattery, dramatics and a practical wearability what a treasure and find it is! And that is just what this season's new profile lots can do, not only for those who possess a flawless profile but for many who need a hat that will improve their side view.

The special slant of the profile hat, from high on one side of the head to low on the other, gives both drama and flattery. The long, diagonal line so formed creates the impression of regular and delicate features. Whether this line is incorporated into a cap, shell, beret or casual-brimmed style, you can't miss with it from the off-side aspect.

Flattery Assured. Moreover, this miracle of lines is mighty easy on your face from the front view, particularly when the shape you choose is proportioned to the size of your head and the little details work to minimize those features that need such service.

As an example, consider the cap shaped profile hat: When it is scalloped or symmetrically curved up across the brow, it will round off a square or pointed chin as well as a long face. It will also soften prominent cheek bones.

But if your forehead is low or you wish to lengthen a round face, choose the shell-shaped profile, the half hat that starts over one eye and covers the opposite ear. The higher the peaking over one temple, the greater effect will this hat have in raising your forehead or lengthening your face.

In a flaringly side-draped beret, long or large noses dwindle, a square face elongates and a heavy jaw slims! What a lot for just one hat to accomplish!

For Wardrobe Perfection You should have no trouble finding profiles in a fabric and color to go with your wardrobe. They are designed in "tweed" feathers, velvet, hatter's plush (sometimes striped!) in colors that range from spice through chocolate brown, jewel tones, rosy red, sophisticated pastels, grayed and dark greens, blues, with teal tops, medium and charcoal grays, winter beiges, navy, black and as a fashion sleeper, reddish purple.

You can try on this season's casual with turned-down brims, higher crowns, the mushroom cloches, flat tricornees, Spanish bicornees and draped helmets that show no hair—but to see yourself at your loveliest, see yourself in a profile shape!

Lincoln A's Blank Omaha, 8-0

Jim Bell Hurls Two-Hitter In Season's Last Job

OMAHA (AP)—Jim Bell, who was pitching his last game of the season for the Lincoln Athletics, blanked the Omaha Cardinals Wednesday night, 8-0.

Lincoln's Wednesday night performance was a repetition of last year. While leading the 1951 Western League race at this time last year, the Cards felt the sting of the last place Athletics, and now fighting to move into first in the league from third place position.

The A's made it rough on Gerry Mertz, getting 14 hits in seven innings. Lou Ciola finished.

The barrage included a pair of doubles by Bob Gardner, triple by Bill Stewart and Joe Mangin and a two-baser by Dan Holden. Jerry Schypinski, Lincoln's newly acquired shortstop from Cordele, Ga., in the Georgia-Florida League, collected three singles in four trips to the plate. Making his first appearance for the A's against Denver Tuesday night, Schypinski had two hits in three trips.

The Lincoln hurler leaves Thursday for a high school coaching job in Michigan.

The two teams met in a single game Thursday night.

Olson Stops 'Silent' Gene

NEW YORK (INS)—Carl (Boo) Olson vaulted to the head of the middleweight contenders class Wednesday night when he stopped second-ranked Challenger Eugene Hairston of New York at the end of six rounds in a scheduled ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Referee Ray Miller halted the bout at the end of the sixth and awarded it to the Honolulu-born Swede on a TKO to prevent further damage to a head cut over Hairston's right eye.

Olson, who lost a close decision to Champion Sugar Ray Robinson last March in San Francisco, opened the cut in the fourth round.

He pounded away at it for the rest of the bout. Dr. Vincent Nardello, New York state commission physician, examined the eye at the end of the fourth, fifth and sixth rounds. He ordered Miller to halt the fight after the sixth.

Olson, a fast-stepping 24-year-old with a solid right hand and a quick, accurate jab, lived up to his reputation as a 9-to-5 favorite as he outboxed and outfigured the rugged Hairston.

Olson weighed 160. Hairston scaled 160½.

The Firing Line

BINGLES and bobbles . . . Wid Matthews, personnel director of the Chicago Cubs, says that every major league club except the Chicago White Sox passed up Hank Sauer early this spring when the National League slugger was put on the waiver list as a matter of routine . . . We know 15 sad clubs who would enjoy Mr. Sauer's power today held received from Lincoln's favorite son, Bobby Shantz of the Philly A's . . . Per usual, Bobby didn't talk about Bobby Shantz—rather spoke highly of another Sherman Field great, Teammate Johnny Kugab . . . Pitcher Dick Messner of Sioux City is a divinity student from Wheaton College (Gil Dodds' alma mater) and his contract calls for no Sunday baseball . . . City Commissioner John Rosenblatt of Omaha, who is head of Muny Stadium warns: "We lost Creighton football and pro hockey and we could lose pro baseball if better support is not forthcoming" . . . Takes time for the experts to choose their Americans, but all it takes to choose a presidential candidate seems to be button flashing, and a surge of emotion . . . Tom Kirk, former "nature boy" of Sherman Field, is third in the batting order for Ottawa of the International League . . . Another Sherman Field grad, George Moskovich, is hitting sixth and still another A's alum, Lou Limmer, is batting cleanup . . . The San Francisco 49ers will use Hugh McElhenny, Washington's great fullback, as a halfback . . . Coach Buck Shaw hopes to get better use of Hugh's speed . . . Rocky Marciano's short arms probably account for his style of fighting . . . He crunches, bores in and throws hooks at his opponents . . . He is strong enough to bull and maul effectively at close range . . . The player-rich Los Angeles Rams traded a whole football team to the Dallas Texans for Linebacker Les Richter of California . . . This despite the fact that Richter will soon be tapped by Uncle Sam.

ONE of the best ways to increase interest in a lethargic baseball community is usually to hold various special nights.

Tommy Clark, the A's business boss, is an ace at this idea. He ranks as the best promoter yet seen at Sherman Field and the A's increase in attendance under him is a testimony.

That Nebraska lottery law, however, puts a special cramp on special nights at baseball games. You can't give door prizes and there can be no lucky numbers. It's pretty tough promoting any sort of special night, unless it be a "field night" with special races between the players.

Back in 1949, during a Yankee special night, the loudspeaker announced that a ball would be hit over the centerfield wall—a feat never before accomplished, even by Babe Ruth. So Yogi Berra walked out to centerfield, picked up a fungo bat and sent the ball over.

The real gag occurred several minutes later when Ed Lopat walked out and was introduced as the "hottest pitcher in baseball." He was wearing a heavy overcoat.

"Never break up a winning team," reads the old adage . . . Manager Casey Stengel of the World Champion Yankees has made exactly 49 lineup changes since the 1952 season started.

Red Sox Sneaking Up On Yanks; Bums Suffer Loss

THE Boston Red Sox are sneaking up on the American League front-runners again. The Sox, called "all but out" of the race a couple of weeks ago when they lost three of four to the New York Yankees, are three and a half games off the pace now—and very much alive.

Mel Parnell hurled the Red Sox to a 5-to-0, shutout over the Detroit Tigers Wednesday for their fifth straight win. The left-hander allowed six hits as he won his eleventh.

The Yankees, meanwhile, built up their lead to two full games when they beat the St. Louis Browns, 12 to 7, in a sloppily-played game that featured two homers by Yogi Berra, his 26th and 27th that put him in a tie with Larry Doby of Cleveland for the league lead.

The Philadelphia Athletics disposed of the Indians, 6 to 5, routing Mike Garcia with five runs in the fifth after Alex Kellner had spotted the Tribe four runs in the opening inning on three walks and an inside-the-park grand-slammer by Al Rosen, his 23rd homer of the season.

The Chicago White Sox moved into a tie for fourth place with the A's by beating the Washington Senators, 4 to 1. An odd sidelight on this game was the fact that the White Sox used four pitchers.

Brooklyn's National League lead came down to nine and a half games as their five-game winning streak ended. The Chicago Cubs whacked the Bums, 10 to 5, while the second place New York Giants edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 4.

The Philadelphia Phillies handed the St. Louis Cardinals their fifth straight defeat, 7 to 2, behind Lefty Curt Simmons. A seven game winning streak by Card Rookie Vinegar Bend Mizell also ended.

Boston scored twice in the ninth to tie and five in the tenth to down the Cincinnati Reds, 12 to 7.

Eddie Arcaro Rides Sub Fleet To Win

CHICAGO (INS)—Sub Fleet, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, won the $25,000 added Sheridan Handicap by a length Wednesday at Washington Park.

Sub Fleet, owned by Dixiana Farm, returned $4.40, $3.20 and $2.60, finished Lygia $4 and $3.60, and Eljay $5.20.

It was Arcaro's 32nd stake victory of the year.

Beatrice Host To Homesteader Meet

BEATRICE (Lincoln Star Special)—One of the top attractions of a big tournament schedule Labor Day weekend will be the fifth annual Homesteader Golf tournament to be played on the Beatrice Country Club layout Aug. 31-Sept. 1.

The tourney will be medal play, with 18 holes of qualifying set for Sunday, August 31, and regular tournament play Labor Day.

Championship flight play will be over 27 holes, three times around the BCC grass-greens course. Lower flight will go 18 holes.

In addition to prizes for the medalist and flight winners, an award will be given to the winner of a distance driving contest.

Walcott-Marciano Bout Not Televised

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—The International Boxing Club and Herman Taylor, co-promoters of the Jersey Joe Walcott-Rocky Marciano heavyweight title fight at Philadelphia Sept. 23, announced Wednesday that the bout will not be broadcast or televised.

However, Taylor and IBC President Jim Norris said the bout will be shown in theaters through an agreement with Theater Network Television, Inc.

Final State Net Match Today

Barring rain, the Nebraska State Tennis Tournament—which began way back on Aug. 2—should be over Thursday night.

Thursday at 5 p.m., on the Lincoln Tennis Club Courts Jack Ringwalt and Lois Cooper of Omaha will meet Lincoln's Jim Porter and Emily Schossberger in the belated mixed doubles finals. All other finals were concluded Aug. 17.

The Porter-Schossberger duo holds the city mixed doubles crown. In addition, Porter was runner-up to Frank Pisalle in the State men's singles.

Next on the agenda for the Lincoln Tennis Club is an inter-city match with Hastings here Sunday. Matches begin at 11 a.m.

North Platte Takes NIL Playoff Setback

NORTH PLATTE (Lincoln Star Special)—The surprising Superior Knights handed Fred Wells his first loss of the season here Wednesday night as Roy Pounds bested the former Lincoln A's moundsman, 1-0, in a sharp mound duel.

It was the first game of a three-out-of-five Shaughnessy playoff series between the two teams.

Pounds was a complete master of the Plainsmen, allowing only three hits and fanning eight while walking five.

The former Omaha Cardinal moundsman allowed no hits after the fourth, and only two Plainsmen reached first base.

The lone Superior run came in the fifth on Jerry Kamler's one-out double to left and Ted Harder's single to center. Line score: Superior, 1-0; North Platte, 0-1.

Pounds and Jert: Wells and Backhaus.

Truman Asks Aid In Discrimination Fight

President Appeals To Unions

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Truman Wednesday urged organized labor to aid in ending racial discrimination in the U. S. and to strive for a better system of collective bargaining.

The White House made public Mr. Truman's labor day statement well in advance of the holiday.

The chief executive is to deliver a labor day address in Milwaukee as the kickoff of his participation in the campaign to elect the Democratic presidential nominee, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

In his formal statement on the significance of labor's own holiday, Mr. Truman cited the great progress which has been made since the observance was proposed by Peter J. McGuire to the New York trades and labor assembly 70 years ago.

Look Ahead
But, the president declared:

"It is not enough to celebrate the progress we have made. This is a day to look ahead, to plan where we are going, to consider the things we can accomplish in the future."

"Many of our citizens—many of our working men and women—need more adequate protection against the great financial hazards of sickness, disability, unemployment, and old age."

"We need more and better housing for our growing population. We must build up our schools in many areas."

"We must end the discrimination which has cast shadows on some parts of our great record of freedom."

Strong Defenses
"We must improve the system of collective bargaining to promote industrial peace and productivity."

The president said the U. S. must safeguard national security by "building strong defenses at home and by working with other nations to keep peace in the world."

Mr. Truman pointed out that nearly 16 million Americans now are "organized into unions of their own choosing."

He said: "Their record is a tribute to the American system of free collective bargaining, which responsible trade unionism has developed to replace the old law of the jungle in our industrial relations."

The chief executive hailed the unions for "playing a vital, constructive and responsible part in the growth of the American economy and in our great national effort to win peace and security for ourselves and for all free people."

Dies Aboard Plane

KANSAS CITY (INS)—A 56-year-old traveler from South Wales died while over Kansas in a TWA plane. John T. Evans was on his way home after visiting his sister in Los Angeles.

The pilot dropped down to 6,500 feet from his 17,000-foot altitude when the man was stricken and hostesses applied first aid. A heart stimulant was administered at Kansas City but it was unsuccessful.

REPUBLICANS

NEW YORK (INS)—Governor Dewey conferred privately Wednesday with General Eisenhower and then told newsmen that Ike is doing a "magnificent job" of unifying the Republican party even though "no campaign has started" as yet.

U. S. Sen. Irving Ives of New York also conferred with the general and reported that he is confident a compulsory fair employment practices law will be passed with Ike in the White House.

Ives escorted the General to New York's central registration board after their talk to sign up for the November election.

Ike had to make a special trip to register and fill out a form stating his party preference because he will be out of the city campaigning during registration week.

Richard J. Gray, president of the AFL's three-million member building and construction trades department, told newsmen after talking with Ike that he thinks a "surprisingly" large number of union members will cast their votes for the General. He said he knows of "at least eight or 10" other AFL leaders who will support Eisenhower.

Stifling Taxation
WASHINGTON (INS)—Rep. Howard Buffett (R-Neb.), in a Labor Day message to his constituents, declared Wednesday that "our founding fathers created a system of government that enabled the people to protect themselves from conscript service and stifling taxation."

The great question now, according to Buffett, is "do we have the will and courage to save that system?"

DEMOCRATS

JACKSON, Miss. (INS)—The fighting spirit that made Mississippi's Rep. John Rankin a national figure for the past 32 years was still in evidence Wednesday as the congressman lashed his political wounds.

Rep. Rankin lost out in the Democratic primary and conceded the election to Rep. Thomas Abernethy. An unofficial count from all but six precincts out of 358 in the First congressional district gave Abernethy 27,868 votes as compared to Rankin's 21,987.

Members of Rankin's family at Tupelo, Miss., said the spunky 70-year-old congressman was up bright and early Wednesday "to look over his land."

Sears of the campaign and close primary race were evident, however. Rankin, a long-time friend of Abernethy, had not yet sent him any message of congratulation.

Rep. Abernethy, catching up on business affairs in Okolona, Miss., said that a message possibly would come later but that he had not received any communication from the defeated candidate.

Red Bullet Spins Around And Out Of GI's Helmet

WITH THE 7TH DIVISION IN KOREA (INS)—A Chinese bullet tried hard but Pfc Herbert Little of Manchester, Conn., is still alive to relate an amazing Korean war story.

A .32 caliber Chinese burp-gun bullet ripped a path between Little's steel helmet and the lining, following the outline of Little's head.

It zoomed out of the helmet, pierced the neck of Little's armored vest and scraped a path down his back before shooting out of the bottom of the nylon vest.

The bullet made a half-inch hole in the helmet.

Delephant To Other Duties Next Month

Federal Judge John W. Delephant will be absent from his duties in Lincoln for about a month in order to attend to various judicial duties elsewhere.

The judge will hold court in Norfolk on Sept. 3, and will attend the Eighth Circuit Judicial Conference in St. Louis on Sept. 5 and 6. He will return to Lincoln for three days, then will journey to Denver to attend the Pre-Trial Conference Committee of the Judicial Conference of the United States on Sept. 10 and 11.

From Sept. 13 to Oct. 18, Judge Delephant will hold court at Little Rock, Ark., for the eastern district of Arkansas, replacing an ailing federal judge.

$25,000 Damages Asked
A $25,000 suit has been filed in District Court on behalf of Sheryl Whitmus, 16, by her mother, Mrs. Gladys Whitmus, asking damages for injuries suffered in a June 26 accident.

Mrs. Whitmus claims that her daughter was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, when it collided with one driven by Robert D. Allen.

Terralac

leading milk formula for baby pigs

Get 25 lbs. at $\frac{1}{2}$ price with 25 lbs. at regular price

WHILE IT LASTS—LIMIT ONE TO A CUSTOMER

Proved on thousands of farms—read here what users say...

"You wean at 5 weeks or less!"
—says Bob Haggerty, St. David, Ill.

"You save pigs you would lose without it!"
—says Elmer Kehrl, Manchester, Iowa

"Terralac feeding costs are low!"
—says M. L. Peters, Wilton Junction, Iowa

"You can make your own equipment!"
—says Ralph Goldenpfennig, Oneida, Ill.

"You save space, you save work!"
—says Henry Brinkman, Clarksville, Iowa

"Terralac proves your gilts sooner!"
—says Henry Roth, Prophetstown, Ill.

At your feed dealer's—for a limited time only—you get a 25-lb. bag of Terralac at half price, with the purchase of 25 lbs. at the regular price! No coupons required; nothing to send in. Just go to your dealer's and take advantage of this money-saving offer.

Then see for yourself what happens when your pigs get Terralac—a scientific product so rich and nourishing that it produces weaning weight at 5 weeks or less... pigs average 20 per cent heavier than pigs of the same age on the sow.

With Terralac you save pigs you would lose without it... runts, orphans, extra pigs in big litters. Users say this alone is well worth the price of the Terralac.

But the big advantage is you send hogs to market four to five weeks sooner. Pigs started on Terralac reach market weight faster—on less feed. You'll say they are the best you ever raised!

The reason is that Terralac contains every known growth factor baby pigs need... liberal quantities of minerals, vitamins, trace minerals and of course Terramycin, the best antibiotic for hogs. Yes, Terralac is loaded with growth-promoting nutrients, and results show up in a hurry when you put your pigs on it.

Terralac was developed by research by Pfizer, discoverer of Terramycin and world's largest producer of antibiotics.

See your feed dealer right away. Remember—this special offer is good only while his supply lasts. Limit is one to a customer.

And ask about the new low price on Terralac. Same high quality. No change in formulation.

Stevenson Says Sweat And Sacrifice Lie Ahead In Communism Struggle

Attacks Policies Of GOP

NEW YORK (INS) — Adlai Stevenson said Wednesday that "sweat and sacrifice" lie ahead for America in the struggle against Communism but the U.S. can win if "we are faithful to ourselves and our traditions."

The Democratic presidential contender told a cheering American Legion convention that it must guard against a "healthy apprehension about the Communist menace within our country" turning into hysteria and "witch-hunting."

Enthusiastically received by the Legionnaires, Stevenson even received applause when he told them bluntly that he will resist pressures from all organized groups—including veterans—which he deems excessive or in conflict with the public interest.

He was more heavily applauded when he attacked Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy — without mentioning him by name—and defended the record of Gen. George Marshall, one of McCarthy's prime targets.

Standing Ovation
Speaking from the same platform from which his Republican opponent, Gen. Eisenhower, spoke Monday to a crowd estimated as slightly larger than the 12,000 that heard Ike, Stevenson received a 70-second standing ovation and was interrupted by applause 28 times during his 15-minute address.

Later, at Asbury Park, N. J., Stevenson told a Democratic party rally that the GOP is "divided, disunited, and dedicated to the past," and "is not capable of governing decisively and well in its present condition."

He told the rally: "The Republicans are split wide open on foreign policy. On domestic policy only now are they slowly and reluctantly accepting the ideas successfully sponsored by the Democratic party years ago."

Stevenson declared "Peace can not be won cheaply by some clever diplomatic maneuver or by propaganda."

He asserted we must have patience and quiet persistence to overcome the "incalculable" difficulties and dangers "that beset our path at home and abroad."

The Illinois governor continued that being "of good heart and good cheer, faithful to ourselves and our traditions, we can lift the cause of freedom, the cause of free men so high no power on earth can tear it down."

Stevenson told his Legion audience that patriotism "is now something more than a virtue. It is a necessity, a condition of survival."

The Illinois governor, an apprentice seaman in World War I, added:

"Men who have offered their lives for their country know that patriotism is not the fear of something; it is the love of something."

Liberty Ideal
"Patriotism with us is not the hatred of Russia; it is the love of this republic and of the ideal of liberty of man and mind in which it was born and to which this republic is dedicated."

"With this patriotism—patriotism in its large and wholesome meaning—America can master its power and turn it to the noble cause of peace. We can maintain military power without militarism; political power without oppression, and moral power without compulsion or complacency."

Then, in a thrust clearly aimed at Sen. McCarthy, he added:

"What can we say for the man who proclaims himself a patriot—and then for political or personal reasons attacks the patriotism of faithful public servants?"

"I give you, as a shocking example, the attacks which have been made on the loyalty and motives of our great wartime chief of staff, Gen. Marshall. To me this is the type of 'patriotism' which is, in Dr. Johnson's phrase, the last refuge of scoundrels."

Ugly Subtlety
To strike freedom of the mind with the fist of patriotism is an old and ugly subtlety.

"Most all of us favor free enterprise for business. Let us also favor free enterprise for the mind. In the last analysis we would fight to the death to protect it."

"Why is it, then, that we are sometimes slow to detect, or are indifferent to, the dangers that beset it?"

"We must take care not to burn down the barn to kill the rats. All of us . . . must be vigilant in preserving our birthright from its too zealous friends while protecting it from its evil enemies."

"I believe in a strong national defense, and I believe that we must press forward to improve our position and not waver or hesitate in this internal when scales are so precariously balanced."

Stevenson declared:

"The road we travel is long, but at the end lies the goal of peace. And in the valley of peace we see the faint outlines of a new world, fertile and strong."

Peterson Asks Hog 'Insurance'

Gov. Val Peterson, in his message to the special legislative session, asked payment of a $200,000 "premium" for insurance on the state's $100 million hog industry against "possible tremendous loss" from vesicular exanthema.

"It would seem hardly necessary to point out the difference, but I want everyone to understand that I am not interested, as an individual, in attempting to cover every loss . . . of business in our state. . . . However, I want to do everything I can to stamp out communicable diseases which may reach epidemic proportions in our animal population," Peterson told the legislators.

Stresses Aid Hike

As he progressed to the old age problem, Peterson said, "It is cruel to let old age recipients believe that the increase of the Federal contribution means automatically an increase in all assistance payments."

He was referring to the recent $5 ceiling increase granted by Congress to take effect Oct. 1.

But asking the legislators to accept his suggestion for increasing the ceiling here $5, he said this would "permit the unmet needs of 2,000 of Nebraska's senior citizens to be fulfilled."

The individual increases, he said, would range from 50 cents up to $5—whatever their need required, but the other 19,000 persons in the state receiving old age benefits without unmet needs will receive no increase whatsoever.

As for the burden upon the taxpayers, Peterson said such an increase would amount to less than $120,000 per year. The national average per capita amount expended on assistance is $9.57, Peterson pointed out that Nebraska expended $10.55 per inhabitant.

The governor then urged the return of some 4 million dollars . . . "nobody knows, it may be more" collected under the blanket school tax levy during 1951 through June 30, 1952, and held unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court.

This was one measure for which

Not For Householder

In asking for the legislators to adopt a measure prohibiting the feeding of raw garbage to hogs in an effort to check a similar outbreak of V.E., Peterson stressed that the bill would "not apply to an individual who feeds his animals garbage obtained from his household."

He said although garbage is al-
